Saint Joseph's University invites applications for the Brian Duperreault Endowed Chair in Insurance and Risk Management. The Saint Joseph's University undergraduate program in Insurance and Risk Management is currently ranked #4 in the country by U.S. News on the strength of its innovative curriculum, successful student placement, alumni support, and industry outreach. The program is supported by the Maguire Academy of Insurance and Risk Management, which recently received a $10 million gift. The Duperreault Chair will be a dynamic individual who will build upon these past successes while helping to raise the research profile of the school.

In particular, the Duperreault Chair will provide leadership for the Insurance and Risk Management Program by developing curriculum, mentoring faculty and students, producing high-quality peer-reviewed research, and helping to strengthen industry programs and relationships. The Duperreault Chair will teach selected courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The successful candidate will possess a Ph.D. in Insurance, Risk Management, or closely-related field, and will have an established record of high-quality scholarship and teaching in the field of Insurance and Risk Management. Industry experience is a plus. Preference will be given to candidates holding the rank of Full Professor; applicants ranked at Associate Professor with a strong case for promotion to Full Professor may be considered.

Interested persons may apply online at <https://jobs.sju.edu/postings/14568>. Applications should include a cover letter/statement of interest; vita; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and contact information for three references.
